ABOUT THE PROGRAM

WAIT TIME

I would LOVE to help everyone immediately but I am very busy with lots of doggos at the moment and so unfortunately have a wait time of at least 2-3 weeks for an initial evaluation, and potentially another wait time between evaluation and start date (unless you are pretty damn sure you want to work with me from the get go, in which case you can book tentative start dates in advance!). This is to ensure quality for my current paid clients. I am able to give some advice in the meantime though if this helps and also have online courses, accessible whenever (you can find these via my website). Thank you so much for your patience.

HOW MY TRAINING PROGRAMS WORK

I run dog training programs, which is a little different to your one-off sessions that some other trainers may offer. I find that dog training programs, which are results based and set on reaching a particular goal/s, get better results for clients overall than a one-off session here and there. Individual sessions may be cheaper at the time, but won't necessarily help you and your dog reach your full potential as a dog-human team.

WHAT'S INCLUDED

- An evaluation to answer any and all questions before training begins (I come to you) – this evaluation is at a cost of $99.00 ($90+GST) and generally runs for about an hour. This is where we discuss what you and your dog need, how the program would work and what you can expect from working with me.
- I come to you, I work where YOU want and need to work to get real world results - this means we proof behaviour out at parks, beaches, busy areas to ensure you have control, not just in a facility. I also run group classes in real world locations
- A block of sessions, based upon a goal (results based) - once you book with me I'm dedicated to helping you, even if I have to chuck on extra sessions free of charge. Sessions are also as long as they need to be
- Training tools are included in your program and you keep them from Session 1, we can even switch tools if we find that something else will work better halfway through!
- Unlimited entry to group classes to maintain training and work in a structured, safe environment with others
- Access to my helper dogs during sessions
- Ongoing support both during the program AND after (I offer lifetime support for clients once they book a program with me)
- Entry into my client group and online learning content group where I share extra tips, and organise group sessions to help anyone who needs it. You will also get free access to my online courses
- You are kept accountable with homework and monthly check-in forms to fill out from me between sessions
- I am an open-minded trainer: I have a bunch of techniques I use on the regular, but I will literally try anything that is fair to the dog to get results and I will happily switch things up if something isn't working as we thought it would

INVESTMENT

Program costs differ depending on the individual dog and your goals, but generally I offer full/advanced programs that include off-leash reliability and run between around $1500 - 2000+ for an all-inclusive program and includes everything you'll need to get to the goal. Following your evaluation I will quote specifically for your dogs needs and goals.

Lower costs than mentioned above can sometimes be quoted for basic programs and issues, though I don't do many of these.

Double dog programs tend to sit around the $2500+ mark.

These are all approximate costs exclusive of 10% GST. If you would like clarification feel free to message me.

This is ONE cost for the ENTIRE program, inclusive of everything you will need to reach your goal; tools, sessions, support, group classes, training in real world locations, written documents, online content etc. Program sessions range from weekly to having a few weeks or more in between for practice (we can adjust this if needed depending on what is best for the dog and family, and we can work around Fifo schedules too).

This cost is normally due prior to the program beginning. If needed, I can create a payment plan that will split the cost over approx 6-8 weeks at the beginning of the program, but this payment plan will come with terms & conditions & a contract to be signed prior to starting to ensure you are committed to the whole program.

RESULTS BASED

As long as I can see you are doing the work, I will continue to help you until you reach your goal without charging extra.
